remember that all the guns have a maximum spread...Yeah yeah yeah yeah, the Sixers beat the Nets. But it wasn't in a statistical sense, because they did not shoot lights out. They shot 19-for-66 (27.3 percent) from three-point range, the team's worst output since the 2005-06 season, when the team shot just 17.6 percent. But even though they shot worse (11 for 36, or 30.6 percent), the Sixers outrebounded the Nets 43-34. They also hit 50 percent of their second-half shots, and they had 18 second-half assists to just 8 turnovers. The biggest difference in this game, though, was their defense. The Sixers were a bottom-10 defensive team in the NBA, and this game showed why.

They had 4 blocks and 6 steals to the Nets' 2 blocks and 0 steals. And they held the Nets to 41.9 percent shooting. The Nets spent the first half on fire. They shot 13 of 31 (41.9 percent) from the field, 6 of 13 (46.2 percent) from three-point range, and 8 of 14 (57.1 percent) at the free-throw line. But they turned it on in the second half, shooting 16 of 35 (45.7 percent) from the field, 5 of 15 (33.3 percent) from three-point range, and 3 of 9 (33.3 percent) at the free-throw line. The Nets had 12 second-half assists, and most of the offense came from players not named Nets. All my Maps have been updated - they have a new design. All my standard maps have been updated - I have edited them all with the latest versions of MCEdit and Paint Shop Pro. The biggest change is the addition of over 100 new shots for all the maps. All new shots have been added. If you found any bugs or missing shots in the versions of f678ea9f9e
